Performance Summary

LCP

The LCP (largest contentful paint) metric determines the time taken for the most prominent content item, such as a hero image or heading text, to appear within the visible area of a user's browser window.

For a good user experience, aim for an LCP of 1.2 seconds or less.

TBT

TBT is an acronym that stands for "Total Blocking Time," which refers to the amount of time that a web page is unresponsive to user input due to blocking scripts during the loading process.

For a good user experience, aim for a TBT of 150 milliseconds or less.

CLS

The term "CLS" stands for "Cumulative Layout Shift," which measures the amount of unexpected layout shift that occurs during the loading process of a webpage, as perceived by the visitors.

For a good user experience, aim for a CLS score of 0.1 or less.

Glossary

FIRST BYTE TIME

- Applicable objects: Time to First Byte for the page (back-end processing + redirects)
- What is checked: The target time is the time needed for the DNS, socket and SSL negotiations + 100ms. A single letter grade will be deducted for every 100ms beyond the target.

KEEP-ALIVE

- Applicable objects: All objects that are from a domain that serves more than one object for the page (i.e., if only a single object is served from a given domain it will not be checked)
- What is checked: The response header contains a "keep-alive" directive, or the same socket was used for more than one object from the given host?

GZIP TEXT

- Applicable objects: All objects with a mime type of "text/" or "/JavaScript"
- What is checked: Transfer-encoding is checked to see if it is gzip. If it is not, then the file is compressed, and the percentage of compression is the result (so a page that can save 30% of the size of its text by compressing would yield a 70% test result)

COMPRESS IMAGES

- Applicable objects: JPEG Images
- What is checked: Within 10% of a photoshop quality 50 will pass, up to 50% larger will warn and anything larger than that will fail. The overall score is the percentage of image bytes that can be saved by re-compressing the images.

USE PROGRESSIVE JPEGs

- Applicable objects: All JPEG Images
- What is checked: Each JPEG image is checked, and the resulting score is the percentage of JPEG bytes that were served as progressive images relative to the total JPEG bytes.

CACHE STATIC

- Applicable objects: Any non-html object with a mime type of "text/", "/JavaScript" or "image/*" that does not explicitly have an Expires header of 0 or -1, a cache-control header of "private", "no-store" or "no-cache" or a pragma header of "no-cache".
- What is checked: An "Expires" header is present (and is not 0 or -1) or a "cache-control: max-age" directive is present and set for an hour or greater. If the expiration is set for less 7 days, you will get a warning. If the expiration is set for less than 1 hour you will get a failure. This only applies to max age currently.

USE A CDN

- Applicable objects: All static non-html content (CSS, js and images)
- What is checked: Checked to see if it is hosted on a known CDN (CNAME mapped to a known CDN network). 80% of the static resources need to be served from a CDN for the overall page to be considered using a CDN.

Opportunities & Experiments

Is it Quick?

Needs Improvement. This site was very slow to connect and deliver initial code. It began rendering content with little delay. There were 60 render-blocking requests. The largest content rendered later than ideal.

Webpage Test ran 13 diagnostic checks related to this category and found 10 opportunities.

1. This test had a slow first-byte time.

First byte timing relates to DNS, network latency, and the time it takes a server to connect and return a response.

2. 28 JavaScript files are blocking page rendering.

By default, references to external JavaScript files will block the page from rendering while they are fetched and executed. Often, these files can be loaded in a different manner, freeing up the page to visually render sooner.

3. 32 externally-referenced CSS files are blocking page rendering.

By default, references to external CSS files will block the page from rendering while they are fetched and executed. Sometimes these files should block rendering, but can be inlined to avoid additional round-trips while the page is waiting to render. Sometimes, such as with stylesheets that are only used for loading custom fonts, inline or async CSS can greatly improve perceived performance.

4. Largest Contentful Paint is high (over 2.5s).

The element driving your LCP is a background image. Some optimizations can help that image fetch earlier.

- LCP Image: <https://themes.themegoods.com/grandtour/demo2/wp-content/uploads/2016/12/pexels-photo-210243.jpeg>

5. Zero render-critical images are lazy-loaded.

When images are lazy-loaded using loading="lazy", they will be requested after the layout is established, which is too late for images in the critical window.

6. Images outside the critical viewport can be lazy-loaded.

When images are lazy-loaded using loading="lazy", when they scroll into the viewport, freeing up early load for other tasks.

7. Several fonts are loaded with settings that hide text while they are loading.

When fonts are loaded with default display settings, like `font-display="block"`, browsers will hide text entirely for several seconds instead of showing text with a fallback font.

- themify normal normal
- Montserrat 400 italic
- Montserrat 400 normal
- Montserrat 500 normal

8. 4 fonts are hosted on 3rd-party hosts

Fonts on 3rd party domains may take longer to load due to DNS and connection steps that are not necessary when fonts are hosted on the same domain.

9. Zero unused preloads were found.

Preloaded resources are fetched at a high priority, delaying the arrival of other resources in the page. In the case where a preloaded resource is never actually used by the page, that means potentially critical requests will be delayed, slowing down the initial loading of your site. <https://w.clarity.ms/collect>

10. 100 files were hosted without using a CDN.

A Content Delivery Network (CDN) distributes a website's files throughout the world, reducing request latency. These files do not use a CDN:

12. Zero requests were found that resulted in an HTTP redirect.

HTTP redirects can result in additional DNS resolution, TCP connection and HTTPS negotiation times, making them very costly for performance, particularly on high latency networks.

13. Final HTML (DOM) size is significantly larger than initially delivered HTML (22.61kb larger, or 17% of total HTML).

Typically this is due to over-reliance on JavaScript for generating content, but increases can also happen as a result of browsers normalizing HTML structure as well. When critical HTML content is generated with JavaScript in the browser, several performance bottlenecks can arise:

- Before content can be generated client-side, the browser must first parse, evaluate, and sometimes also request JavaScript over the network. These steps occur after the HTML is initially delivered, and can incur long delays depending on the device.
- If the generated HTML contains references to external assets (images for example), the browser will not be able to discover and request them as early as desired.

Is it Quick?

Needs Improvement. This site had major layout shifts. It took a long time to become interactive. It had 3 accessibility issues, 1 critical. Some HTML was generated after delivery, potentially delaying usability.

Webpage Test ran 5 diagnostic checks related to this category and found 3 opportunities..

- Layout shifts are not caused by images lacking aspect ratio
This is great. Images with width and height attributes allow the browser to better predict the space an image will occupy in a layout before it loads, reducing layout shifts and improving your CLS metric score.
- The main thread was blocked for 1101 ms.
When files block the main thread, users are unable to interact with the page content. Typically, parsing and executing large JavaScript files, as well as running long JavaScript tasks can block the main thread and should be avoided. These files had high thread blocking times:
 - 362 ms: <https://dubaisunsetsafari.com/>
 - 512 ms: <https://dubaisunsetsafari.com/wp-includes/js/jquery/jquery.min.js>
 - 107 ms: <https://dubaisunsetsafari.com/wp-content/themes/grandtour/js/lightbox.packed.js>

- Meta Viewport tag is configured properly.
A meta viewport tag will help a mobile-friendly site scale and display properly on small screen devices.
- Accessibility Issues were Detected
Axe found 3 accessibility issues: 1 critical, 2 serious,

Make the following changes to improve accessibility:

CRITICAL Buttons Must Have Discernible Text

- Fix any of the following: Element does not have inner text that is visible to screen readers aria-label attribute does not exist or is empty aria-labelledby attribute does not exist, references elements that do not exist or references elements that are empty Element has no title attribute Element's default semantics were not overridden with role="none" or role="presentation"<button type="button">

SERIOUS Elements Must Have Sufficient Color Contrast

- Fix any of the following: Element has insufficient color contrast of 2.96 (foreground color: #a4bcfb, background color: #1c58f6, font size: 9.8pt (13px), font weight: normal). Expected contrast ratio of 4.5:1 150AED

5. Final HTML (DOM) size is significantly larger than initially delivered HTML (22.61kb larger, or 17% of total HTML)

Typically, this is due to over-reliance on JavaScript for generating content, but increases can also happen as a result of browsers normalizing HTML structure as well. When critical HTML content is generated with JavaScript in the browser, it can increase the time it takes for content to be made accessible to assistive technology such as screen readers.

Is it Resilient?

Not bad... This site had render-blocking 3rd party requests that could be a single point of failure. It had no security issues. Some HTML was generated after delivery, which can cause fragility.

Webpage Test ran 3 diagnostic checks related to this category and found 2 opportunities.

1. Potential SPOF: 2 3rd-party requests are blocking page rendering.

By default, references to external JavaScript and CSS files will block the page from rendering. Third-party blocking requests are particularly risky, as your page's access relies on their response time and availability.'

2. Zero resources were found that were loaded over an insecure connection.

Loading requests over HTTPS necessary for ensuring data integrity, protecting users personal information, providing core critical security, and providing access to many new browser features.

3. Final HTML (DOM) size is significantly larger than initially delivered HTML (22.61kb larger, or 17% of total HTML).

Typically this is due to over-reliance on JavaScript for generating content, but increases can also happen as a result of browsers normalizing HTML structure as well. Common issues such as JavaScript errors and third-party network delays and outages can present potential single points of failure.
